This failure libstrates as the most pointed way the felly of trying to run a country to suit a rail read—to make the tail wag the dog. One gets only a disjant and general view of Hillsborn and Forest Grove from the train, but enough to see that they have made no special growth in recent years. They are local conters and expect only the moderate prosperity afforded by the local trade. Very cires equally is required to discover where St Joseph used to be. Ten years ago there were pentialy affort houses, but they have sunk into the earth apparently. Two faded and tappling houses alone malk the spot once an a nutrinos terinitus. Here also is an instance of rebuke following greed, in a mother illustration of the fact if it is the country and not the railroal if al creates a town. In amother illustration of the fact if it is the country and not the railroal if al creates a town. In Limminghie is far enough for in Portland to have a medistinct importance, and one can see in passing through it that it is prosperious in a wind way. Alt at anythe lips of the createst and the international that creates a two in the same far in several places of the country and not the replacing done. Office these centers are can be not lips of the createst and the international its spires and deable the number of school houses, a like of the latter large and handome in this protection.

There has mover been a season of harvest more favored in the matter of weather than this Three fourths of the fields have been cut though much of the grain shift less in sheaves in the field back and the favore of the season of the fields. feill Fields still unout are dead ripe, fairly pleuding for the renger. Mr. J. C. Cooper, of McMunrulle, a gentlemen always well informed tells me that the yield of both wheat and oats in the west side counties is much better than expected sarly in the season. It is easy to see in resting through the country that the farmers of largon, at least of the west side, are up with the times in all methods of barresting in scores of sides threshing machines of the most modern and improved slyle were in operation the motive power farmshed by portable engines using straw for fuel. The old fashloned horse power that almost wholly given plane to the more regular and economical power afforded by steam. In many other respects, however the country seems less enterprising. The general fick of the furns through which the train rashes is slovenly. I arm are often out of repart of the furns through which the train makes is slovenly. I arm are often out of repart of the furns through which the train have piles disfigure the landscape. The preving need of paint and whilewash struck mental forcibly. There are a few good buses letter and there but viewed generally there seems litt eatherhou to the countoris, not to speak of the internation to the countoris, not losses and the old rail fence by lines of boarl and were is particularly noticeable and addition to the order of the ride fress-crossed raf fence required wide standing room. In the whole overse of the ride from Portland to Cryshe I did not see a single line of fence under M new rails. feid Fields still upont are dead ripe, fairly pleuding for the renjer Mr J C (copper, of

THE OREGON PACIFIC

What is known as the Oregon Pacific railroad has two names. Its origon factio, raifroad has two names. Its cars are marked W V & C R. R., which I was quite ready to believe stood for Williamette Valley & Circutous rail road till I was informed that the C stood for Coast. The track reaches the semants of the Coast range by following the windings of the hisry's river, at this season mercin a in doe of wood, heavy and well built. The roll ng stock is of the best. At various point along the route the company is putting up grain wireliness, large up is ut fainted. The trospect of a convenient outlet has a mula dithe fainters of large and ther sales until the fainters of large and the grain surplus this all will be double that of any former year.

As I sat in a comfort be observation car an improved two y miles per h in over the countr. I thought of a trip by wagon which I may hoogh the same country in November 1849 time from corallis to the bay, three days. The route is prietly much the same, but the progress of settlement and the difference in seasons had so altered the country that I could recognize only a few inculties. However, I very readily listinguished the place where we (Mr. W. M. Hoeg and I) got an especiatic good dimer, an another place where we again Mr. Hoag and I saw a purticularly pretty girl. The latter in cident was well worth remembering the girl was leading a cair, apparently of the I lood, and Mr. Hoag partis to gratify my eagerness to get a better look at the girl and his own to get a better look at the cair halted the team and called "Sax, my good girl, what kind of a cair is that?" Hert er sir," answered the girl, and we drove on in steme. Another place I recognized, where we still Mr. Hoag and I) attended a roral dance 194 jug as I reme nier an entran a fee of a dollar and a half, "including supper ant breath four miles from the ocean. As yet there is no town to speak of, save that which has grown up town to speak of, save that which has grown up about and is dependent upon the terminal works. These latter are, comparatively speak up, quite extensive and include a large depot, warehouses, machine shops, round house, direks, etc. The company owns or controls the townsite. The business of the bay and the point of attraction for summer visitors, like myself, is four miles farther westward, near the occan. Here and hereabout, in hotels and camped on the bluffs, are some hundreds of people, all engaged in having a good time. It is a healthy, happy, tolly crowd, which devotes the days, and the nights as well, to boating on the hunt, bathing in the surf, excursions to points of interest up and down the coast, dancing and the thousand diversions engrested by good spirita, cool air and abundant leisure. Laquina has many attractions as a place of recort, but speak in g for myself, I prefer either Clausop or Hwaco in another letter, if I am not overcome by the capties of the time here, I will write of other aspects of the time here, I will write of other aspects of the time here, I will write of other aspects of the time here, I will write of other aspects of the time here, I will write of other aspects of the time here, I will write of other aspects of the time here, I will write of other aspects of the time here, I will write of other aspects of the time here, I will write of other aspects of the time here, I will write of other aspects of the time here, I will write of other aspects of the time the second of the control of the co

The Professional Sairing Race.—The skippers of the various ships in port are taking a very-lively interest in the boat race to take place tomorrow, and of course each thinks he has got the smartest boat and intends to win the race. Every man jack of them is builted to win the race. Every man jack of them is builted by his dealer the lightest and largest cauvas possible for his boat, and themore knowing ones are getting up gaff topsails, flying jibs and jib-jibs, and studding sails and spankers, and of course no one will attempt to start without a spinnaker. One captain, whose boat was smashed by the steamer which towed him up, has loaned his suit of sails to another, and all are hard at work trying to get up a race that will astonish the natives. Already there are seven entries, as follows: One boat each from the Shakespeare, Luen, master Mittedaie, Davies; Jessie usborne, Wilson: Ethelbert, Massey; Hiver Grde, McMillian; Valleio, Harding; Cartier Dove, Forsythe—all Britishers. Every master may regulate the sails to suit his judgment, but no builhast can be thrown overheard after starting. There ought to be at least one American bout in the suc. Can not the masters of the Coloma and the Edward Ridder, now in port, get in? Shall the Eagle let the Lion have all the sport?

Chiramen TO THE Castadeer Reason.—A few days ago thirty-eight Chinamen were taken by wagon from Palouse Junction to Ellensburg to work on the railroad, and a guard of armed men uncer W. S. Swein taken along to protect them should it be neteesary. The company brought up a large number of white men from Portland and adjacent points, furnishing free transportation, and paying $2, 52.50 and $3 per day according to their worth. It seems, however, that a large number of them got too high to work as soon as they got a month's wages in their pockers, but instead fill up with theer and go on a strike. Numbers of white men are being brought out from St. Paul. They are required to pay $17 fare, $15 of which is returned to them at the rate of $5 per month. In future men will not be taken from here to work on this road, unless they pay thear fare, as the company do not propose to furnish free transportation to men and then here them quit work in a week or two. This does not by any means apply to all of the men who went up to work on the construction, as many of them are hard working and ladustrious.

Witness and Prisoner Both Herr.—Several weeks ago H. A. Albrecht, a butcher, was arrested on a charge of attempting to commit an outrageous assault on a young girl named Emma Leich. The case was set for examination several times in the police court, and invarious several times in the police court, and invariably put off on account of the absurce of the principal witness, whom the police falled to find after a diligent search. The consequence was that Albrecht was discharged from custody. Shortly afterwards the Leich girl was found and arrested for contempt of court, and she was absequently released on bonds. On being released Albrecht came to the concluden that it was a good idea to get out of town, and due so, making Vancouver his objective point. The authorities lawing found the girl, had ase for him, and learning of his whereathouts desocities and summens repaired to the place that Albrecht had chosen as a haven of rest, and brought him back to Fortland. Albrecht is once more under lock and key, and as the girl can be had to testify when wanted, he will have to stand trint on the charge against him. WITNESS AND PRISONER BOTH HERR. -- Sev-

ORDERS TO RECEIVERS,—In the United States circuit court jesterday Judge Heady made an order citing the committees representing the London and German bondholders to appear and show cause why receiver Koehler should not be directed to spend upwards of $50,000 which he has in hand in the payment of Indobtedness incurred by the Transconducated company in the extension of the road south from Roseburg subsequent in June 21, 1884. In ret. N. Sout, receiver of the narrow gauge road, the court made an order modifying the order of April 19, so as to authorize the receiver to horrow $100,000 and to issue 100 certificates therefor with interest coupons attached bearing interest at the rate of 9 per cent, payment absolute at the end of six years, but payable at the option of the receiver in equal payments of one, two or three years. THE "NEW YORK" CLAM.

Something of the History of the Finest Bivalue Found in Paulic Coast Waters.

Overescaler, 'W. T., Aug. 14.—If any one desires a quiet place to rest and enjoy the healthful and invigorating sea air, with the cold, bursh and raw edge taken off, this is the Place. The value stands on the long penir socking east, over the broad, placid and some times bare to som of Stoniwater bay. The bay is also it twenty-eight miles long from north to oth, and about three to fifteen miles wide The greater part of it gots dry at low tide, hence the origin of its name. Much of its bottom is covered with natural oyster beds, while on the shoaler parts, as far as the eya can reach, one can see the stakes marking the private or actiucial beds.

I need not describe these delicious little bi-licial beds.

I need not describe these delicious little bitaives, as all Portlanders are well acquainted with them. But the slottern clain, generally rolled and by many the New York clain, by some the Baltimore clain, is a thing that is now attracting considerable attention, and as there is great difference of opinion as to its origin. I will give you what informalion concerning it that I have been able to gather from the old residence of this place. It seems to have been entirely unknown to the white inhabitants of the bay ontil about three years ago. When found they seemed to be abundent, and have seen rapidly increasing ever since. Having not been discovered scooner, it was generally consided that they were brought here in a lot of Baltimore oysters, imported and planted here by John Creiling about twilve years ago. But it is theory was con dispelied by some close o genver, who found in the oid shell banks around the shores of the bay, washed up by its waves in the long gone by when the surface of this beneatful bay was esteral feet higher than it now is, large quantities of this identical clain. The Indiana hore also universally claim that this claim was always here. But in the face of all this Capt. Robert Sun, son chains to have introduced them here even years ago, and here is what the Pacific denoral says about it:

"The origin of the Fretern claim, which have here as a numerous darder the claim."

here. But in the lace of all this Capt. Robert Sin, son chains to have introduced them here seven years ago, and here is what the Pacific Journal says about it:

"The origin of the Extern clam, which have become so numerous during the past few years, and which has been rat air obscure, is clearing up. From Mr. John Wood it is learned that copt. Habert Simpson, some seven years ago, caused the Russern varlety of clam to be planted that topt. Habert Simpson, some seven years ago, caused the Russern varlety of clam to be planted in the Pay. They were brought hither in the schooner Enterprise, Capt. Mctalip, master."

He claums to have planted a small quantity in the claums to the open and there were decovered three years ago, they were found toward the head of the South larger of and toward the head of the South larger all over the harg, and away up the rivers emplying into the larger. They are simply countres, limitless, inexhaustible. A reliable man assures me that be can dig in places, a landed to the square yard.

Iran's Harbora large bay at the mosth of the Chebulis river, officen in the most of this hay, also absonos in them. Did this Capt. Robt. Simpson take them it there also? Guees not without any evidence of their previous existance here, it would seem, and is, simply impossible, that so few of these singgish and inactive creatures could in seven years untility into contiless millions. There are enough in Shoolwater bay alone to load the year's grain deet that enters the columbia river. I would not willingly in all haps, Simpson, or any one, of his well carried for their previous existence here it would seem years and they fire the place of their previous existence has planted chams here, as John Crelling plantic four burles of Baltimote oyslers here twelve years ago. But these oysters failed to multiply and are seed on found. This claum is always found tutled in the sand four to ten inches deep and I am sery much beliefue to believe they have nivery seem there in abundance and that the white people di of this coast.

There is no reason why the Portland market should not be boundfully supplied with this delicious fined. They are so abundant here that a man can dig six to ten bushels of them on one low tide, or in less than six hours. I think they can be found occasionally in Portland markets, and I recommend all lovers of shell fish to try them.

and I recommend all lovers of shell has to try them.

This bay is the only place convenient to Portland fit for ealt water bathing. It is very broad and very sheat, consequently safe. And being so sheat the tum warms he water to a delightful temperature. Bathing on the weather leach is deligenteen, and the water so cold that delicate people cannot enter it without great danger to their health.

If the start we had good hotel accommodations and conveniences for bathing it would be well patronized.

In connection therewith, the correctness of my pallished accounts of the affair are questioned, and, I regret to add, ex-Gov. Hoadly is queled: "There are two principal inaccaracies in the published statements of the occurrence that I have seen, although that is not to be wondered at when their anthor is known. This is the man who delights to call blusself Capt. McCafferty. He openly avowed his approad of this law issuences, and by visiting the telegraph offices and the papers on the Sound, has emfeavored to spread over the Country lite idea that the poor chinamen simply acquiesced in the polite request for them to leave it a country. The facts in the case are these: One hundred armed men visited the Treadwell infec on Douglas island and ordered he Chinese to leave, threatening them in unnistable language with death if they remained. Somewhat out of the usual run, the chinamen expressed a willingness to say and fight, but they were marmed, and Mr. Treadwell, separintendent of the mine, told them what was they were marmed, and Mr. Treadwell, is sperintendent of the mine, told them what was the truit—that any outbreak would result me general massacre."

If Gov. The matter from what source they come, are pure ret.

As to the numerited reflections against my moral and personal reliability, I have only thus to say. I have resided on the Pacific stope since 150%, have been largely connected with the mineral development of Ar cona and elsewhere, have served the people in their legislative bodies, have furnished the press with much useful furnithed, and have never knowingly outraged the feelings of man, weman or child by the slammeful interance of falsebood or other acts of ill breeding. Therefore the statement of facts as published by myself in the Post-Intelligencer (Scattle, W. T.,) of the 14th inst, I know to be true, which time will prove.

I have further to say the statement of the "two cyte-witnesses," as published in The Obrontan will, when carefully read, prove the correctness and reliability of my published in The Obrontan of the aftar, though they meant and could wish in otherwise. When W. W. Cole billed this country for his irons two years ago, no one was ready to be lives that the bad anything like what his billicalled for. It was the first really big tented show that ever got west of the Cascade mountains, and it was a whopper. The parade liself was comett ling snormous, and people, after seeing it, began to think possibly there was no deception. So it proved. He had every feature that he advertised, and none of them were cheapfeatures. As a result he had audiences that packed the tents for six performances, and revery one was more than satisfied with the show.

Cole comes ngain this year. He will be here Thursday and Friday of next week, the 3th and 17th. Judged by the past, it is safe to presume that he will keep raith with the public and show exactly what he advertises. In addition to his large menagerie he has a small army of acrobats and gymnastim new acts, bicycle riders, wire walkers, ougglers, leapers, clowns, trained elephants, licenses, dogs and monkeys, all in acts that harenot been worn threadbare. He has the Silbon family, four in number, gymnasts, who in their particular line nearly apprach the marvelous He has Romap charlot racing, a sport which combines the excitement of cunning and trotting races. ILWACO, Aug. 15.
When the Olympian touched at Astoria Satur-When the Olympian touched at Astoria, Saturday the dock was thronged with "Venetians" who had come out to see the steamer from Porliand. "What lovely women?" exclaimed a lady abourd as the line was made fast and the gang plank run out. The admission was both generous and just. It is doubtful if another place of like population can present so many beautiful gits on a moment's notice, and if Astoria's daughters are as charming in mind as in person, the lively little city by the sas must be an ideal home for marriageable men. Whether it be the salt sea breeze or a diet of the "lovely salmon" that causes so desirable a result, nice-lentils of the fair sex lining the dock on Saturday, were bleesed with bright eye, clear completies. the "forely salmon" that causes so desirable a result, nine-tenths of the fair sex lining the dock on Saturday, were blessed with bright syes, clear complexion and well rounded forms. In the comparison it must be confessed that our Portiand ladies appeared to disadvantage, for from the throng of two or three hundred that crowded the steamer's deck it would have been difficult to select twenty-five who were as good looking as the same number on shore. Changing a dangerous subject for a discount.

Changing a dangerous subject for a disagreeable ona, I venture the assertion that, admitting that the ladies on the Olympian were not so leautiful as the fair Venetians, they were infulled too good for a majority of the men about. Long before the hour for dinner the adming room doors were crowded by some 230 well dressed and bad mannared fellows strugging for a seat at the first table. Weary methers, buggry children and gentlemen stood about as much show of getting justice as a shystar's client. The sense that followed the opening of the doors was melancholy, in that it showed that the American people sink far beneath the fulsome measure of the alump speaker. The American people sink far beneath the fulsome measure of the alump speaker. The American officers stands sadly in need of correction and improvement.

At the liwaco doct a similar scene was enached, when a rush was made for the limited number of conveyances waiting to carry passengers to the weather beach.

Classop is by far the prettier place, but somehow North beach catches the crowd here when he tries to find a friend encamped somewhere on that indefinite place termed Long beach. And if that friend elouid, by ill-chance, seek that seelouson which a wait text grants, and should be a new comer, the task is rendered almost hopeless. At the East Portland camp the bell announcing the bathing hour rang at 1 o'clock, and about 150 bathers answered the sinful call. Probably 300 others, regardful of lessons of piety imbiled in their childhood, or the frightity of the breakers gathered on the beach and set a good example to the rising gen-eration. Col. J. W. Reddington, the famous humorist of the Heppter Guesta, is on the beach. To the salutation "How goes it, Kei?" he answered lugubriously: "I wish some friend would round me up and take me home. I don't knip what I came here for. I was supprint fine health foor days ago, but ever since I struck the heach P ve been suffering, even as Peter's what I came here for. Yet this must be a healthful place, for I met an elderly man who informed me that he was the only doctor on the paninsuia. "And," he added, "its so plaguer healthy here that I often lie awake all night wondering how it would seem to have a patient." "If i win'nt for the increase in the population," he said, reflectively. "I'm a hissorian and a democrat" was the proof reply. "I reared six soes, and they are all democrate but one. He turned out bad and became a repullifican office-holder. But he wen't so had after all, for he used to write to me: Pa, I'm as good a democrate as pro, deep down in my loots, but there's more money jes' now in running my paper on the republican plan and holding the post-office."

The friends of 'reorge Haiser, "slug 17" of The Orkoorlas, are telling a good one at his expense. Haisey was taking his constitutional dip in the briny a few days ago, and was hornfied to hear a wild cry of alarm from a fail tabler who had become separated from her companions. Heedless of danger he plunged boldly for the distressed maden. "slo back! (ro back!" she cried in agony. "Never!" was the heroic reply. "It shall not be said that I suffered a lady to drown without an effort to rescue her." The next instant a gigantic breaker buried the unfortunate girl from sight, but Haisay lever failered. Buffeting the angry waters, he at last reached her side, and, taking her lilly-white hand in his broad and manly pain, he started for the shore. O, base ingratitude! O, fickle woman! Wrenching her hand from his grasp, the maiden shrieked. "Leave me! leave me." Ehen her voice faltered, and bursting hid tears, she whispered, "Please go and tell ma that I've ripped my batting suit."

The decision of Judge Bugbie, that the rail-road company have no right to take the right of way for the proposed Vancouver extension, seems to finally settle that question. The decision of the chief justice is now being considered by the divisional court, composed of Justices McCreight, Crease and Grey, and this court will render a decision in a few days, but it is considered almost certain that Judge Begble will be sustained. The only resort then left will be to the supreme court of Canada, but the result in the highest court bere will doubtiese largely infunce the matter there, if appealed. Judge Begble, who is looked upon as the most estate and incorruptible judge on the bench in British Celumbin, states very emphatically that the road cannot be extended further than Port Moody.

(1) TITLE AND SIT SCT OF ACT The subject of an act which forbids the sale or gift of options to any one but a drug, list or practicing physician, except on the prescription of a practicing physician is sufficiently expressed in the following title Angel to regulate the sale of option and the bulk act does not probable the disposition of option and thereby destroy its value as a needestoal agent—that being the only use of the drug which is generally considered proper in this country.

er is confined in the penticulary of the state, in pursuance and satisfaction of a sentence and judgment of the state circuit court for the county of Baster, for the alleged crime of sell log and giving away opium to one B f Cald well, in violation of a lof the act of November 25, 1850, entitled 'An act to regulate the sale of optum and to suppress opium dens,' which is alleged to be nuil and void because (1). The provisions thereof relate wholly to a subject too expressed in the title of the act and (2). The provisions thereof relate wholly to a subject too expressed in the title of the act and (2) if deprives persons of their property to opium without compensation and without due process of law, contrary to the constitution of both the state and the United States.

It is also alleged in the petition that at the passage of this act the opium in question was a part of a large amount owned by the petitioner and others, within the state, for the purpose of being sold at retail therein as inserchandise, for which purpose it was and is of great value and that by the operation of said section the sale of said opium as ordinary merhandise is presented and its value greatly diminished.

On the filling of the point on the court directed that notice of the applicant in beginn to the prosecuting attorney for Baker country, who appeared and was beard in opposition thereto.

The law of the United States governing the procedure by belons cort as is set forth by [3], but of the revised statutes, and the cases in which this court may issue the writ are anescribed in [3]. year, subject to be inspected by any public officer of the state."

Sections 2, 3 and 4 of the act relate to smok ing oplum, and 5 prescribes a rule of evidence in trials for the violation thereof. Section 6 prescribes the punishment for any violation of the act, which may be by impresonment in the penticentiary not more than two years nor less than six months nor less than one, or by a fine of not more than $500 nor less than $0.0

Section 20 of article 4 of the constitution of the state requires that an "act shall embrace but one subject and matters properly connected therewith, which subject shall be embraced in the title but !" any subject shall be embraced in an act while, shall not be expressed in the title." only so much of the same shall be void.

It is claimed by counsel for the petitioner that arrival the act is, in substance and effect, a probability of the sale of option, while the subject expressed in the title is only the regulation of such sale.

probable on of the sale of opum, while the subject expressed in the title is only the regulation of such sale

And from this premise the deduction is made that the section is void because (1) the subject of prohibition is not expressed in the title, and (2) a prohibition is not expressed in the title, and (2) a prohibition is not expressed in the title, and (2) a prohibition is sell the opum in the hands of the psetifioner and others within the state at the date of the passage of the act, is in effect to deprive him and them of their property therein without compensation or fuel process of law. In support of the first deduction counsel cite, Matter of Application of Paul, 41 N 1 197, in which the word "tenement houses in the title of an act, was held not broad enough to include the subject of "dwellings" mentioned in the body of the act and Town v Samer 54 Iowa, 28, when a town ordinance was held void because the title ran "Reguialing the use and sale of into cleaning liquors, while the body of it was "entirely prohibitory".

In support of the second deduction counsel cited Wyneham v The Peop e 11 N Y, 378, in which it was held, that an act forbidding any one to sell or keep for sale intoxicating liquors except for mechanical, medicinal or secumental purposes, was, as to such liquors then owned by persons in the state, and and void, because it deprived them of their property therein, without due process of law, contrary to the constitution of the state and State v Wahuff, b Fed Rep. 178, in which it was held the factuation out for the district of Kansas, that the Kausas sonstitutional prohibition against the manufacture of beer in the state and State v Wahuff, b Fed Rep. 178, in which it was held the factuation of the state prior to that date, on the ground that such prohibition destroyed the was the own for medicinal, scientific and sacramental purposes, was void as to brewery property rected and in use in the state prior to that date, on the ground that such prohibition destroyed the value of such property la the sale of opinin before he is entitled to the writ.

And whether an act is prohibitory of the sale of an article in that sense must depend on curcumstances, and particularly the character of the article and the uses and purposes to which it has generally been applied in the community. A law limiting the sale of disposition of bread and meat to druggists and practicing physicians unless prescribed by a physician in the course of his practice, would, considering the universality of the need and use of these articles in the countries, probably be regarded as prohibitory in its character.

But opinin is a medicinal drug, and has never munity, probably be regarded as prohibitory in its character

But opium is a medicinal drug, and has never been used and has no claim to rank as a necesary of life. Its use has been mainly in medicine, as an anodyne and it is classed by subsoce among the active poisons. In the East it has been used for centuries, by smoking and mastication, to produce a kind of interication but, until lately, such use has been unknown in the United States, and is now chieff confined to the Chiness. In the American cyclopedia (berbum oplum) it is east to be a vice "less easy of detection than alcoholic intexication, which it is said to replace where law and custom have made the latter disreputable its evil effects are used manifest upon the necrous and digestive systems" and its final results resemble celirium tremess.

The eale or dispessition of an article which is an active posson and has no legitimate use except in medicine may be regulated accordingly in my indement the act does not in effect prohibit the disposition of the drug, but allows it under such elicumstances and on such couditions as will, according to the general practice and opinions of the country, prevent its improper and harming lass.

and opinions of the country, prevent its improper and barmful use of all cohol and tobacco, both of which are classed by science as poisons, and doubless deetroy many lives annually. But the people of this country have been accusiomed to the manufacture and use of them for many generations, and they are produced and possessed under the common and ong etanding impression that they are legitimate articles of property, which the owner is entitled to dispose of without any numsual restraint. And even now it is brettly well settled that the legitlature may absolutely prohibit the future manufacture and use of these articles, and may also prohibit the sale and use of the stock in hand, on making compensation to the owners for the loss occasioned thereby. On the other hand, the use of optium, other wise than as this act allows—as a medicine—tas but little if any place in the experience or habits of the people of this country—even among a few stens. Smoking optium is not our vice, and therefore it may be that this legislation proceeds more from a deere to vex and annoy the "Heathen Chinee." in this respect,

But the motives of legislators cannot be the subject of judicial investigation for the purpose of affecting the validity of their acts.

It is the duty of the law maker, as fat as in power extends, to enact laws for 1 to 1 serve ton of the morals of seciety and to promote the growth of right thinking and act my in all maters affecting the physical or meaths well being of its members. In the exercise of this power and the discharge of this duty, this act to regulate the disposition and use of opium, considered as a dangerous drug, which the weak and unwary unless prevented, may use to their physical and mental ruin, appears to have been passed. The subject of the act is sufficiently expressed in the fille, and the use of the article is not thereby restrained, so as to destroy it a value as a medicine or remedial agent—the only use of which is generally considered and mempion as proper one in this country take to Ah Chow, 15 Nov., 5
